Mysuru to get 9 more flights under UDAN-3

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha handing over a booklet listing out his four-year achievements, including the UDAN service, to Prime Minister Narendra Modi at New Delhi yesterday.

Mysuru, Jan. 4 (BCT)- In a major boost for air connectivity from Mysuru, nine more flights will be introduced to major destinations that will add to the existing lone daily flight to Chennai. The flights will be operated under UDAN-3. UDAN (Ude Desh ka Aam Nagarik) is an ambitious project launched by Narendra Modi Government to enable the common man to fly.

Under UDAN-3, the third phase of the Regional Connectivity Scheme (RCS) that was launched in October-November last year, nine aviation companies have come forward to bid to operate services from Mysuru to different destinations. Highly placed sources told Star of Mysore that the flight schedule is likely to be announced on Jan. 7. In November last year, the Union government invited bids from interested operators for the third round of auctions for the UDAN scheme.

Weary way to welfare

Facing life's blues by different sections in the land's population has tended to be getting tougher than ever before. Even the outlook towards that daunting task, needing a philosophical bent of mind, on the part of present generation betrays a sense of utter helplessness, particularly in the case of weaker sections of society, while the affluent sections seem to have lost their way chasing happiness. Scholars tell us that the expression 'May everyone be comfortable in life' (Sarve Janah Sukhino Bhavantu), attributed to the land's ancient thinkers, is unique to our country. If that people-friendly wish is a mirage as it were, one is obliged to seek the answer to the question: Why is it so?

The land's often-quoted social reformer of the 12th century Saint Basavanna is known to have prescribed the seemingly simple path to attain bliss, namely pre-occupation with work (Kayakave Kailasa), but, in reality, doesn't seem to earn conviction on the part of contemporary generation. The line 'An idle mind is the devil's workshop' appears to fit a majority in the land's mass of people.

While it may soothe those who take fascination to accuse the aliens who ruled the country during the periods preceding its getting political freedom seven decades ago for the country's economic and social problems, one is prompted to remark that the land's people at large also take fascination to accuse the successive governments of failing to provide good governance, particularly to ensure people's welfare, forgetting that we live in a democracy which demands discharge of responsibilities to deserve the rights.

The various welfare measures that the government of the day has initiated to meet the basic needs of life, namely drinking water, food and health have got overwhelmed not only due to the mounting headcount but also energy being diverted to disruptive activities. The nation's bountiful resources, including fuel for the hearth call for deployment with efficiency in the long-term, however weary the way to welfare may be.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Amongst the great man-made places visible from outer space are the pyramids of Egypt, the Great Wall of China and the Palm Islands of Dubai. Now added to the list is the 600-foot figure of Sardar Patel — so tall, at dusk it casts a mile-long shadow over an enormous dry agricultural stretch. Without irrigation facilities in the fields around the statue, farmers face continual drought. Sadly, Sardar Patel's high gaze ignores their fallow land, and is directed instead into a wilderness far greater, across all India (Ironically, the base of the statue houses a research centre dedicated to good governance and agriculture development). The 42-month-long process and the unwholesome expenditure of Rs. 3,000 crore can hardly be justified. — Gautam Bhatia in The Hindu

Canine heroes protect smallest penguins

Victoria: Middle Island, off the coast of southern Victoria in Australia, is home to a colony of the world's smallest penguins known as fairy penguins,which are no taller than a foot and weigh only about 1kg. There used to be hundreds of them but their population dwindled as they were hunted by foxes.

"We went from a point where we had about 800 penguins down to where we could only find four," said Peter Abbott from the Penguin Preservation Project. "In our biggest bird kill, we found 360 birds killed over about two nights. A chicken farmer named 'Swampy Marsh' finally came up with a solution in 2006 – he suggested using dogs and generously agreed to send one of his own Maremma dogs to protect the birds.

It's been nearly 10 years since Oddball, the dog and his successors were introduced to the island, and not a single fairy penguin has been killed by foxes.

Venus the two faced cat

North Carolina: Here is Venus, a five-year-old cat, who has become an internet sensation for her appearance – half of her face is orange while the other is black!

Christina and Chris, Venus's owners, first saw her at a dairy farm in North Carolina in 2009. She looked like a mixture of their other two cats – an orange tabby and a black tuxedo – so they knew they had to take her home. People were shocked when they saw Venus for the first time, and some have even accused the couple of dying her fur. But they insist that they had nothing to do with her bizarre coloring.

According to Professor Leslie Lyons, who studies cat genetics at the University of California, the black coloration might have been randomly activated in all the cells on the right side of her face while she was a fetus in the womb. The orange color was probably activated on the other side and they met in the middle.

A 'Thank You' letter from Lt. Gen. B.C. Nanda's daughter

Sir,

I wish to thank Santhosh Thammaiah for his touching and respectful tribute ("The Soldier who Saved Siachen") to my late father, Lt. Gen. B.C. Nanda in SOM dated Dec. 26, 2018. I am immensely proud of what my father achieved in his professional career and, most of all, of what he meant to me as a beloved father.

Lt. Gen. Nanda

I would, however, like to correct a portion of the account here: My father's role model was his father, B.S. Chengappa (Chief Conservator of Forests, Andaman Islands) whose extraordinary work and contributions are held in high regard. It is from him that my father's lifelong association with, and love of, nature and environmental issues came. It was during the early years of his childhood in Andaman Islands that my father's keen observations of natural life began. This was the bedrock of my father's interest in nature and environment.

As a young boy of 7, my father was able to assist a visiting English Naturalist in compiling an extensive list of local names for the fish of the Andaman waters — knowledge that he had imbibed through his passion for fishing, combined with a sharp eye and ear for all things in the natural world. Anyone who knew my father would know what an amazingly keen and astute observer of animal and bird life he was.

This passion was something he carried with him throughout his life, be it in extensive travels through his native Kodagu, or the many places he lived in, and visited, across India and overseas.

After my father retired from an illustrious career in the Indian Army in 1989, he devoted tireless hours to various causes, be it the issues and concerns of ex-servicemen, adventure sports foundations, or giving fresh direction and impetus to the Coorg Wildlife Society, to name but a few.

Over the years, my father, on his regular visits to Kodagu, visited Field Marshal Cariappa's residence, to pay his respects as a nephew.

Also, my parents had always planned to retire in Kodagu.

Thank You once again for this tribute to my father.

NOTE: I had not met Lt. Gen. Nanda personally, but had seen him from afar and heard about his interaction with people living in remote villages beyond Gaalibeedu. I was told he was visiting Sri Bhadrakali Temple at Monnangeri, staying overnight in the humble house of a local. I heard of Gen. Nanda's humility and love of nature when I visited his host's house about five years ago.

My contact with him was mostly per letters on issues concerning Kodagu and Kodavas. On reading his daughter Shalini's letter, I tried to look for Gen. Nanda's letters in my file and was able to find just one written by hand. It is an eloquent testimony to what his daughter has written and his abiding love for Kodagu. Hence, I reproduce it here below.

— K.B. Ganapathy,
Editor-in-Chief

Dear Sir,

Thank you for sending me a copy of your letter dated 10.8.2003 addressed to Mr. Ulliyada M. Poovaiah. I fully endorse your view that the Kodavas must be united. We are at the moment making efforts towards that end. I am sure you are aware of what is happening.

When I retired from service after 40 years in uniform, the Govt. of India sent me messages after messages asking me if I wanted a job. I declined as I needed to attend to my personal affairs that had been totally neglected. Any query to Mr. K.C. Pant, Mr. Jagmohan or Mr. Naresh Chandra will confirm what I say. Also Mr. Arun Singh. Later it was Mr. Moily. Now that I think back— may be that if I had accepted those offers — Kodavas would have benefited in some ways. It was just that those living in comfort in Kodagu were swallowing up my heritage and my land — I needed to put this in order.

I continue to dedicate myself to Kodagu and the Kodavas.

With best wishes and regards

Yours sincerely,
B.C. Nanda

Sudden hike in RTC and other Certificates fee draws flak from farmers

Mysuru, Jan.4 (MTY&DM)- The sudden hike in fee of RTC and other certificates effective from the first day of the New Year has drawn flak from the farmers.

The Government has passed an order hiking the fee of RTC and 35 other services rendered at Nada Kacheris and Atalji Janasnehi Centres with effect from Jan.1, 2019.

Following the hike, the RTC will cost Rs.5 more and Rs.2 more for each additional page. Also the fee of certificates issued in respect of 35 other services has been hiked by Rs.10. Earlier, the RTC was issued for Rs.10 at Nada Kacheris, Taluk Office and Spandana counter in the Deputy Commissioner's (DC) Office. But as per new order, the RTC now costs Rs.15 and the applicant has to pay Rs.2 per extra page in case the document runs up to more than five pages.

Also, the fee for the services rendered at Atalji Janasnehi Centres has been hiked from Rs. 15 to Rs.25. Students now have to pay Rs.25 for getting income and caste certificate.

The farmers can get RTC and other certificates at the counter in Mini Vidhana Soudha, Nazarbad, Spandana counter in the DC's office in the city and at Varuna, Yelwal and Jayapura Nada Kacheris in the Taluk.

A total of 35 different certificates are issued at Atalji Janasnehi Centres located in MCC Zonal Offices at Jayanagar, Ramakrishnanagar, Yadavagiri (Akashavani Circle) and Ambedkar Circle (FTS Circle) and at Ambedkar Samudaya Bhavan, Hebbal.

Farmers are seen standing in queue for RTC in the city.

All those centres totally receive thousands of applications every day, with a majority of them seeking RTC certificates. Meanwhile, the KRRS has condemned the hike in RTC and other fees.

KRRS leader Badagalapura Nagendra said that the Government had reduced the fee from Rs. 15 to Rs.10 four years ago, following an agitation by the then KRRS MLA K.S. Puttannaiah. But the Government has hiked the fee again, which is deplorable, he said and added that the KRRS would take up the issue at a meeting to take place at Bengaluru on Jan.5.

Advocate stages solo protest against harassment by officials

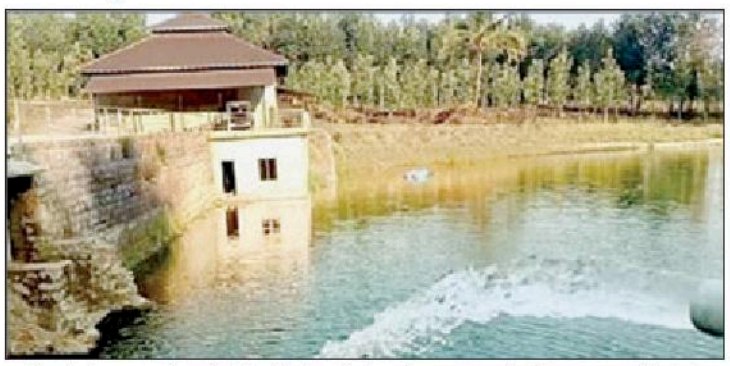
Accusing the DCRE officials of issuing notices to several persons from Parivara and Talawara communities coming under ST category, Ramakrishna urged the officials to withdraw the notice at once and stop harassment.

Kodagu farmer's novel idea to stop elephant menace

Baby

Somwarpet (Kodagu), Jan. 4 (US) - The menace of wild elephants straying into agricultural lands in Kodagu is common resulting in farmers hesitantly going to their field with fear.



The lake constructed by Baby at Arasinaguppe in Somwarpet taluk.

To get over the plaguing problem, a progressive farmer Baby of Arasinaguppe village bordering Yadavanadu Reserve Forest in Somwarpet taluk has come out with a novel idea by forming a lake on a half-an-acre of the field which has also replenished water to dry borewells nearby.

Baby and his wife Meena possess 10 acre of land and cultivates ginger, coffee and spices. A few of the borewells dug in the field had gone dry but for the one at a higher level where Baby decided to form the lake.

The wise Baby cemented three walls of the lake leaving the one extending to the forest. He cultivated Bamboo and other plants most liked by elephants near the open end. The wild elephants now even if they want to stray would be attracted to the Bamboo and other plants, eat them, drink water from the lake and happily go back, sparing the main agricultural crop.

Baby's plan has helped the neighbouring farmers as the lake has improved the ground water table resulting in all borewells yielding water.

Pisciculture: Inspired by the progress, Meena has launched pisciculture in the lake and the venture has given good returns with the fish reared there selling like hot cakes at nearby villages.

Wildlife: The lake has been attracting a lot of deer, peacocks, rabbits and boars, not to exclude birds making the place a good place to watch wildlife.

Rain water harvesting: Baby is now planning to form one more lake to harvest the rain water coming down the sloppy areas which would boost the yield in agriculture.

Musings amid Lakes & Palaces

As I said last Friday, our own Mysuru and distant Udaipur, which I visited recently with my family, seem like sister cities to me since they have both been seats of royalty and also because both have many Lakes and Palaces. It is a different matter that while we seem very dissatisfied of late with how we are managing our Lakes while people there seem supremely content with retaining them like how their forefathers had left them...undeveloped and undecorated but tranquil and pristine. And, their Lakes are perhaps destined to remain that way over the years to come as they have a stern legislation in place that proscribes any development around them.

Our Lakes do not seem so lucky as some of us have started feeling that they are not doing enough for us and are therefore thinking of developing them so that they can generate greater income. We seem to be rather dissatisfied with the old world way of thinking that the beauty of our Lakes and water bodies lies in their tranquillity and that they are meant to be appreciated unmodified and unmolested just as nature made them. Except for a very short stretch of the road that skirts the Fathesagar Lake where some food stalls have been established, the rest of the Lake perimeter is completely clear of any kind of business activity meant to attract tourists.

To experience the joy of staying at one of the many quaint home stays around this Lake we had booked a simple, no-frills, boutique home stay 'The Lake View Villa' run by a retired engineer, M. P. Singh and his wife Meena who happen to be from the royal lineage of Banswara. It was a very enjoyable and relaxing experience being able to watch the water birds feeding on the Lake edge while having our own breakfast on the lawns overlooking the Lake!

While the birds would peck at their breakfast, pausing to look this way and that way we would peck at ours, pausing to look at them! A walk along the perimeter of this Lake at dawn or dusk is a magical experience with the tranquil and seemingly endless expanse of water gently disappearing into the mist. Unlike the much smaller Fathesagar, which has many open spaces around it, the Pichola Lake, the largest of the four Lakes within the city limits, is an unimaginably vast water body surrounded by human habitation on almost three sides. The five-storied City Palace complex, built over nearly four hundred years ago by the Maharanas, which is what the Udaipur Maharajas called themselves, overlooks its Eastern banks while its counterpart The Jag Nivas or Lake Palace sits bang in the middle of the Lake. The most striking thing about the huge complex of mazes and terraces that make up the City Palace is that it has on its topmost terrace a huge courtyard with fully grown trees. How the builders of the erstwhile Udaipur Maharajas provided the adequate depth of soil required to grow them there seems like an engineering marvel indeed. I say this because this was a feat accomplished long before the era of reinforced and water-proofed concrete.

A view of The City Palace from Lake Pichola.

At no point in the floor underneath this huge garden could I see the slightest sign of moisture seeping into the masonry walls or ceiling. Incidentally, this Palace too has a tiny electric lift that is still in working condition which is very similar to the durbar lift in our Amba Vilas Palace that once used to bring our Maharajas to the Durbar Hall from their private living quarters. This lift was installed by Maharana Bhopal Singh (1884-1955) the last really reigning Maharana of Mewar because he was a wheelchair bound invalid. He had been rendered a paraplegic at the very early age of sixteen by tuberculosis of the spine which was not treated scientifically due to the traditional beliefs prevalent during his time.

Interestingly, just next to the entrance to his lift on one of the floors, is a fake door that just opens onto a blank wall and leads to nowhere. It appears it was installed by the Maharana who with his wry sense of humour would take pleasure in ridiculing his guests by inviting them to open it and enter before him! Incidentally, this Palace too like most other Palaces that I have seen across the country did not answer the long-standing question that has been lingering in my mind over many years.

I have always wondered about where members of large royal households and their many attendants went to ease themselves because we hardly see any toilets either for royals or for ordinary mortals in huge royal abodes. The only exceptions were the Palace atop the Amber Fort in Jaipur and the Padmanabapuram Palace near Thiruvananthapuram both of which have just two toilets each!

Ghats around the Pichola Lake that have steps leading to the water's edge have been left as they were in the days of yore without any attempt to either widen the roads leading to them or allowing any new structures to be built alongside. The result is that no vehicular traffic is allowed or even possible there and they have thus still retained their old world charm that instantly takes you back a couple of centuries the moment you step in there. The many bridges leading to the old areas around the Lake have been left untouched and even to this day they almost remain just walkways. So even the many high end hotels with their enviable locations which abound there, can have their guests arriving and leaving only by humble autorickshaws, leaving their swanky limousines far away where the new city roads end and the old city lanes begin!

The Lake Palace located on an island in the middle of the Lake has now been leased out to the Taj Group which runs the high end Taj Lake Palace Hotel there with access to the place by their own boats operating from their own private jetty close to the City Palace. This water-bound Palace was one of the locations where the then popular James Bond thriller Octopussy was filmed. You can, if you so desire, have your dinner on their lawns by prior appointment...for a princely sum, of course. Understandably, a taste of royalty does not come cheap!

3-day 'Kodagu Utsav' from Jan. 11

Attractions: Food stalls, exhibitions, dog show, fruit and flower show, open street festival

Mysuru, Jan. 4 (RKB&BCT)- After devastating floods and landslides ravaged Kodagu district, the District administration is trying hard to bring back the district, once known for serene hilly landscapes, eye-catching coffee estates and its sacred groves, into the tourism circuit map. And as part of the efforts to boost tourism, a three-day "Kodagu Utsav" or "Pravasi Utsav" is being held in Madikeri from Jan. 11.

Speaking at the calendar release event organised by Mysuru Hotel Owners Association here yesterday, Deputy Director of Tourism Department H.P. Janardhan said that the intention of "Kodagu Utsav" to be organised by Tourism Department is to bring back tourists to Kodagu. The festival will be organised on the lines of Mysuru Winter Festival recently.

He said that a couple of meetings have already been held with the district officials in Madikeri regarding organising the festival. Officials have been asked to make all the preparations for the success of the Utsav.

Wide publicity should be given to ensure that a large number of tourists take part in the festival, he said.

Tourism Department sources told Star of Mysore that a variety of cultural programmes would be held from 6 pm to 10 pm on all the days. In addition, food stalls will be set up and exhibition on handicrafts and others will also be held. The Department of Animal Husbandry will organise a dog show on Jan. 12. The Horticulture Department will organise fruits and flowers show on all the three days at Raja's Seat in Madikeri from Jan. 11.

An open street festival will be held from 8 am onwards on Jan. 13. Yoga demonstration will also be held at 8 am on Jan. 13, sources added. A budget of Rs. 75 lakh has been earmarked for the Kodagu Utsav.

Complimenting the Mysuru Hotel Owners Association for bringing out a calendar that highlights the tourist places in Mysuru, Mandya, Kodagu and Chamarajanagar, Janardhan said that the calendar will go a long way in promoting tourism of this particular region.

Speaking on the occasion, Mysuru Hotel Owners Association President C. Narayanagowda said that tourists coming to Mysuru usually do not restrict their trips to Mysuru alone but visit Kodagu and Chamarajanagar too. The calendar has been released so that there is wide publicity, along with photos, for such places, he said.

Just 60-second hearing

SC adjourns Ayodhya case to Jan. 10

On Jan. 10, SC to decide the future date to begin the hearing

Justice Ranjan Gogoi, CJI

New Delhi, Jan. 4- In a 60-second hearing this morning, the Supreme Court deferred the Ayodhya temple-mosque case and said a Bench would decide on Jan. 10 when to take up the case.

Though the Court Number 1 was jam-packed with lawyers and journalists in anticipation of some orders for day-to-day hearing of Ayodhya dispute, a bench led by Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi made it a 15-second affair by reading out the order — "further orders will be passed by appropriate Bench on January 10".

Senior advocates Harish Salve and Rajeev Dhawan, appearing for different parties, did not even get the opportunity to make any submission. The Supreme Court also dismissed a PIL seeking to hear the Ayodhya matter on urgent and day to day basis. The PIL was filed by an advocate Harinath Ram in November 2018. Ram had urged the top court to hear the matter on an urgent basis and in a time-bound manner.

On Dec. 24, a Supreme Court Bench headed by Justice Ranjan Gogoi had decided on "fixing the date of hearing before the appropriate Bench." On the same day, Union minister Prakash Javadekar said that the central government wants the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid title suit to be heard on day-to-day basis in the Court.

On Nov. 12, the Supreme Court had rejected a plea seeking an early hearing in the Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid title suit. SC had last year rejected a plea by Muslim parties to refer Ayodhya land dispute to a five-judge constitution bench and had fixed hearing to commence from Oct. 29.

However, on Oct 29, the SC had posted the matter for "appropriate orders" on January 4. In 2010, the Allahabad High Court had divided the disputed land in Ayodhya into three parts for each of the parties — the Sunni Waqf Board, the Nirmohi Akhara and Ram Lalla.

Even the 'Notice of Commencement of 3rd Round of Bidding for Selection Process for Selected Airline Operator under RCS-UDAN Version 3.0' says that the 'date of declaration of Selected Airline Operator and issue of Letter of Intent' is on Jan. 7.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha said that under UDAN-1, he was successful in bringing the TruJet flight to Mysuru. "TruJet flight that began its daily operations on Sept. 20, 2017 has a 72-seat capacity and is running with 95 percent occupancy and for the operator Mysuru has turned out to be the best and profitable route. We could not introduce any new flights to Mysuru under UDAN-2," he said.

Elaborating, the MP said that while no one had expressed interest to even include Mysuru for bidding under UDAN-1 in 2017, he convinced the then Civil Aviation Minister to include Mysuru in the bidding list that had the list of Tier-II and Tier-III cities. "Now it has been proven beyond doubt that Mysuru is a profitable route if planned and implemented well. Under UDAN-3, nine operators have expressed their interest in operating flights and this is a great boon to the region and its economic development," he said.

Government sources said that UDAN-3 will focus on connecting iconic tourist destinations. This bid will also enable connecting to those airports which were deprived of regular connectivity due to default of a few airlines.

The Union Ministry of Tourism has already identified tourist hotspots to connect under UDAN-3 and the air fares are capped at Rs. 2,500 for an hour-long flight for 50% of seats. The remaining seats can be sold at market rates.

Pratap Simha said that under UDAN-1, Hubballi Airport had got only one flight. But in UDAN-2, Hubballi has got 16 flights to destinations like Ahmedabad, Bengaluru, Mumbai, Chennai, Cochin, Hyderabad and Goa. "Mysuru too has the potential and in the coming days, the region will see a transport boom with good roads, rail networks and air connectivity," he said. Destinations that have been mentioned in the nine bids for Mysore Airport will be known when the bids will be opened on Jan. 7, he added.

Slum dwellers pour out grievances at Adalat

Mysuru, Jan. 4 (PM&DM)- The Slum Dwellers Adalat organised by the District Administration at the Institution of Engineers Hall on JLB Road in city this morning, saw slum residents pouring out their grievances before the authorities.

The Adalat was presided over by Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar. While some slum dwellers complained of poor quality of JNNURM houses built by Karnataka Slum Developed Board, some others alleged that middlemen were playing havoc in the allotment of houses under various housing schemes such as Ambedkar Awas Yojana, PM Awas Yojana etc.

A few others complained of dumping of all sorts of wastes, including animal wastes around JNNURM houses in Roopanagar, Bharathnagar, Ambedkar Nagar and others areas.

Mangalagowri of Dhwani Mahila Okkoota alleged that wastes, debris and other trash were being dumped around residential places in Roopanagar and surrounding areas, which has been causing huge problems for nearby residents.

The DC directed the authorities to look into the matter and take appropriate measures for ending the menace.

G. Krishna, President of Dalita Abhivruddhi Sangha claimed that Pourakarmikas attached to the MCC were working three hours more than the stipulated working hours and demanded overtime payment to the Pourakarmikas.

He also demanded toilet facility for women Pourakarmikas at duty attendance points.

The DC said that plans were afoot to introduce mobile toilets and the District Administration was working out plans for addressing Pourakarmika issues.

Anand, a resident of Koppalu, alleged that a liquor shop had come up on the land belonging to Slum Development Board and urged the authorities to evacuate the liquor shop.

R. Pooja, a student from Jyothinagar, complained that the authorities had failed to construct houses under JNNURM and other schemes, after demolishing the dwellings in her locality.

More than 75 slum dwellers from across the city had registered for the Adalat.

MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha, MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj, Slum Development Board EE B.M. Kapani Gowda, AEEs Tejashri and Mahadevu and other officials were present.

Former Mayor Narayana, DSS office-bearers Ningaraj Malladi and K. Nanjappa, too were among those who attended the Adalat.

Australia Vs India 4th Test

India declare for 622/7

Sydney, Jan. 4 - India declared at a massive 622 for seven in their first innings after centuries from Cheteshwar Pujara and Rishabh Pant. Pant was not out on 159, the second of his career, to pile more pressure on Australia on day two of the fourth Test at the Sydney Cricket Ground (SCG) today before India declared for 622/7. The 21-year-old left-hander smashed eight boundaries in his composed 137-ball knock, building on 193 from Cheteshwar Pujara to steer India to 622 for seven in the final session of the day. Pant's ton came from a four off spinner Marnus Labuschagne and became the first Indian Wicket Keeper to score a Test century in Australia.

Pant also became the only second visiting wicket-keeper to register Test centuries both in England and Australia. Jeffery Dujon, with hundreds in Manchester and Perth in 1984, was the first.

Pant is now the second highest run-scorer in the ongoing four-Test series in Australia. He overtook Virat Kohli's 282 runs and trails only Cheteshwar Pujara, who leads with 521 runs. Moreover, Pant became the first wicket-keeper from the subcontinent to score over 200 runs and take 20 catches in a Test series.

Pujara made 163 and Pant was not out 159 when skipper Virat Kohli made his call in the final overs of the day after Ravindra Jadeja was out for 81.

The visitors lead 2-1 and only need a draw to clinch their first-ever series win in Australia.

Meanwhile, Australia had scored 24/0 in 10 Overs with Marcus Harris batting on 19 and Usman Khawaja on 5, when we went to the press.

There are three days left in this Test match and it will truly be a miracle if Australia can get themselves into a winning position from this point.

Ramdas launches 'War Against Cancer' initiative in city

Mysuru, Jan.4 (RKB&DM)- In a bid to make Mysuru a cancer-free city in the next five years, KR MLA S.A. Ramdas launched 'War Against Cancer' (WAC) campaign under Arogya Mysuru initiative.

Announcing this at a press meet at Patrakarthara Bhavan here yesterday, Ramdas said that WAC was formally launched in city marking former PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee's birth anniversary on Dec. 25 last.

Pointing out that he was inspired to launch this initiative after seeing over 5,000 people attend Swasthya Mela programme organised by the Union Government at JK Grounds in city when Vajpayee was the Prime Minister over 15 years ago, Ramdas said he hoped that this initiative will succeed in making Mysuru cancer-free in the next five years.

Noting that he was deeply disturbed by the demise of Union Minister H.N. Ananth Kumar and several other personalities who died of the dreaded cancer disease, Ramdas said he could never ever forget the sight of the sufferings of traumatic children at Kidwai Cancer Institute at Bengaluru when he visited the Institute as Medical Education Minister years ago.

Stating that the first health check-up camp under WAC initiative was held at Jayanagar on Dec. 25, in which over 1,300 people underwent health screening, the MLA said that such camps will be held on the first and third Sundays of every month at various centres across the city for the next five years.

Tests such as blood, thyroid, cholesterol, sugar, urine, ECG, etc., will be held during the camp and the patients attending the camp, should bring their Aadhar, Voter ID and BPL cards (if necessary) for registration.

The next camp will be held at Vokkaligara Bhavan in Vidyaranyapuram on Jan. 6 (7.30 am to 2 pm). For details, contact Ph: 0821-2484444/2484477, he said.

Explaining many other initiatives launched by him for ensuring the health of people, Ramdas said the WAC initiative was launched in association with GSS, Safe-Wheels and Asare organisations.

The WAC has tied up with major hospitals such as Kidwai Cancer Institute, NIMHANS and Bowring Hospital in Bengaluru and other hospitals in Mysuru for necessary guidance and assistance in making the initiative a huge success, Ramdas added.

GSS Foundation Founder Srihari, Safe Wheels Proprietor B.S. Prashanth, Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) President C.K. Mahendra and Secretary K.J. Lokesh Babu were present at the press meet.

Rush for B.Ed course at KSOU

Rs. 53 lakh earned from application forms so far

Mysuru, Jan.4 - The Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), which had three zero years (2015-16, 2016-17 and 2017-18) is back with a bang after being given recognition by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and has managed to collect a whopping Rs. 53 lakh by distributing applications for the B.Ed course.

KSOU had issued a notification in November last year seeking applications and nearly 5,300 students have applied for the course. The intake is 500 and the applicants have to clear the written test on Feb.10.

Meanwhile, the UGC has extended the last date for submitting applications till Feb.3 and KSOU is hoping to attract more candidates to the two-year course, which is said to be in big demand.

The KSOU for the first time has launched online admissions so that students need not visit the campus to pay the fees and complete other formalities.

According to Vice Chancellor Prof. D. Shivalingaiah, the demand for B.Ed is high as it is essential to teach in schools and also since the course is made mandatory for those wishing to join PU Colleges as lecturers.

He also said that they were expecting 5,000 more applications by January end and added that the course at KSOU was meant only for in-service candidates as per the guidelines of NCTE (National Council for Teacher Education).

Convocation at KSOU after four-year gap

After a gap of four years, the Karnataka State Open University is likely to hold the convocation either in January or February.

The students have been anxiously waiting for their degrees all these years and the date will be announced on confirmation from the office of the Governor, who is the Chancellor of the University.

The Convocation is only for students who have cleared in-house courses for the year 2012-13 admissions. The last convocation was held in March 2015 and the University was de-recognised three months after the 12th convocation.

Blame politicians and not the Constitution, says retired HC Judge

Mysuru, Jan.4 (MK&US)- Jai Bheem Sports Club had organised a function at K. Siddaiah Circle near Jayanagar Railway Gate here recently to commemorate the 201st Bhima Koregaon Victory celebration and first anniversary of Vijaya Sthamba.

Inaugurating the programme, retired High Court Judge H.N. Nagamohan Das said that a few fundamentalists are harping on altering the Constitution with no alternatives in mind and asserted that changing the Constitution would create instability in economic, social and political spheres of society. He opined that people who burnt a copy of the Constitution recently were not just opposing the Constitution but were anti-Democracy.

He contended that the Constitution should be studied properly to comprehend the concept of equality.

Continuing, Nagamohan Das asserted that Constitution is not just a story or novel or poem but a social, economical and political programme with no lacuna. He pointed out that there is a mistake in implementation of the Constitution by the elected people's representatives.

Citing the examples of demonetisation and Goods and Service Tax (GST), Nagamohan Das recalled the misery experienced by common people and ordinary traders. He regretted that State Governments have become slaves of the Union Government for which Constitution should not be blamed but the politicians.

The concept of equality mentioned in the Constitution enabled a tea-seller to become the Prime Minister of the country and added that himself hailing from an ordinary farmer's family could become a Judge. Till inequality persists among castes, reservation would continue to stay, contended Nagamohan Das.

The history behind Koregaon war was concealed but was exposed by Ambedkar after a thorough study. Unfortunately, Ambedkar is being tagged to one particular community there by dishonouring history.

In fact, Ambedkar was an economist, sociologist, lawyer, journalist and a great personality in general, said Nagamohan Das.

Hailing the cultural heritage of Mysuru, Nagamohan Das recalled a case where the request of a hotelier from city to stage cabaret dances at the hotel way back in 1977 was turned down as it would demoralise the cultural praise of Mysuru.

Seer Sri Jnanaprakash Swamiji of Urilingapeddi Mutt and Buddha Prakasha Bantheji graced the occasion.

Former Chairman of Backward Classes Commission Dr. C.S. Dwarkanath, former Mayor Purushotham, theatre artiste H. Janardhan and others were present.

Free heart check-up camp for doctors

Mysuru, Jan.4 (PM&DM) - City's Suyog Hospital, located in Ramakrishnanagar 'E&F' Block, is conducting a month-long free heart check-up camp for the medical fraternity till Jan.30.

Announcing this at a press meet in city, Suyog Hospital Chief Dr. S.P. Yoganna said that the camp has been organised in association with various medical organisations.

Highlighting the significance of the camp, Dr. Yoganna said that doctors who are under professional stress and strain, tend to neglect their own health, thus putting their life at risk. As such, this camp will help the doctors to have a check-up of their health, especially that of the heart. He said that the free heart tests include ECG, Echo, TMT, blood tests, etc. Angiogram and angioplasty treatments are also available for doctors at a subsidised cost, he added. The camp, which began on Jan.1, will go on till Jan.30, from 10 am to 8 pm on all days, barring Sundays, Dr. Yoganna said and added that 20 doctors can have heart check-up every day. Pointing out that there were over 2,000 registered doctors in the city, Dr. Yoganna announced that over 50 doctors have already registered for heart check-up at the camp.

For details, contact Ph: 0821-2566966 or Mob: 97395-55908. API President Dr. Lakshmi Gowda, IMA Mysuru Chapter President-Elect Dr. Suresh Rudrappa, Treasurer Dr. N. Chandrabhan Singh, Family Doctors Association President Dr. Nagendra Prasad and others were present at the press meet.

Call to make Mysuru TB-free district

Mysuru, Jan.4- "The second round of TB Detection Andolan will be held on Jan.12 and we have taken an oath to make Mysuru a TB-free district," said District TB Control Officer Dr. Ravi.

The TB Control Movement has started throughout the district from Jan.2. "Treat TB as an enemy and patient as friend" is the slogan with which this movement started for control and treatment of TB (Tuberculosis), he said.

In the region where the cases of TB are on the rise, the officials are going door-to-door and conducting sputum tests and taking X-rays free of cost. Those detected with TB are being given free medicines. The teams are formed for a population of 50,000 to 60,000 and the detection efforts are going on, he said.

Some of the common symptoms of TB are if the cough persists for more than two weeks, sometimes sputum seen mixed with blood, loss of weight, high temperature or fever, night sickness, sweating etc. With continuous treatment TB can be cured, said Dr. Ravi.

This disease is commonly found in slums, among beedi worker groups, HIV infected, people with diabetes, those who use tobacco products. Hence awareness about TB must be created in these groups, he said.

College students interact with publisher

U.S. Mahesh of Rupa Publications seen interacting with the students of Nataraja Women's First Grade College.

Mysuru, Jan.4 (US&RKB) - Kannada Book Authority and Kannada Literary Forum of Nataraja Women's Residential First Grade College, had organised an interaction with book publisher at the college premises here recently.

The students volleyed a series of questions on eligibility to become a publisher, remunerative aspects of becoming a writer/publisher, definition of plagiarism and so on. U.S. Mahesh of Rupa Publishers gave a patient hearing to the questions and answered them in simple terms.

Mahesh said that a publisher brings out a literary item be it in the form of a story, poem, essay or research in a printed book form and the number of copies printed is based on demand.

He pointed out that publishing job was a highly respected one in the society and added that anyone with good talent and hard work can become a publisher.

He further said that a good association with writers would be beneficial. He contended that there was no proper and concrete method to check rampant plagiarism.

Mahesh opined that to become a writer one should be an avid reader with a flair for literature. He said that to translate a book to another language prior permission is necessary from the original writer.

College Vice-Principal G. Prasad Murthy presided. The college faculty and students interacted with the publisher.

Appointed as AICC Spokesperson

Aishwarya

Mysuru, Jan. 4- Youth Congress leader Aishwarya Mahadev has been appointed as AICC Spokesperson by Congress President Rahul Gandhi.

Daughter of former K.R. Nagar MLA late Manchanahlli Mahadev, Aishwarya was a strong contender for the Congress ticket from K.R. Nagar Assembly segment in the district in the May 2018 Assembly polls. But she was denied the ticket then when the then Chief Minister Siddharamaiah had promised a bigger role for her in the party.

Now, after being appointed as AICC spokesperson, Aishwarya becomes the second woman Congress leader from the district to get a top post.

A few months ago, former Mysuru ZP President Dr. Pushpa Amarnath was appointed as the President of KPCC Women's Wing.

RBI stops printing Rs. 2,000: Report

New Delhi, Jan. 4- The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has stopped printing Rs. 2,000 notes launched during the demonetisation days in November 2016. The move, as per a report, quoting unnamed government sources, is being aimed at slowly reducing the note's circulation.

The report also states that the decision also comes amid suspicion that the Rs. 2,000 note is being used for money laundering, hoarding and tax evasion. The cut in circulation doesn't translate into the note being deemed invalid. To compensate, the printing of Rs. 500 notes has been increased.

The Rs. 2,000 note, along with the new Rs. 500 note, was introduced in November 2016 to replace the demonetised Rs. 1,000 and Rs. 500 notes and to deal with the acute currency shortage. Opposition parties had criticised the introduction of these notes as a higher denomination note would only make it easier for people to hoard money.

The critics also included bankers who questioned the government's move to bring in Rs. 2,000 notes to replace Rs. 1,000 notes. In April 2018, there was an acute shortage of cash. The government suspected that the cash may have been hoarded ahead of state elections and in the aftermath of the Nirav Modi scam.

WORD OF THE DAY

Handsel

Pronunciation: HAN-sul.

Meaning: A gift made as a token of good wishes or luck especially at the beginning of a New Year.
Origin: According to an old custom in the British Isles, the first Monday of the New Year is Handsel Monday, a day to give a small gift or good luck charm to children or to those who have served you well. As long ago as the 13th century, English speakers were using the ancestor of handsel in the context of omens and luck, eventually leading to the meaning of a good luck charm given to one at the start of some new situation or condition. By the 18th century, traders were using handsel for the first cash they earned in the morning — to them, an omen of good things to follow. Nowadays, it can also be used for something that gives a taste of things to come.
Example: By the 1500s, traders were using handsel for the first cash they earned in the morning.

THE ODD WORD

Hoggin

A mixture of sand and gravel, used especially in road-building.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Have a dekko

Meaning: Have a look.

Origin: Those of you who speak English but don't live in England may not have come across this expression before and even here it is now rather archaic. 'Dekko' is the usual spelling, but as it is a slang term derived from spoken language the spelling is somewhat arbitrary; sometimes 'decko', sometimes 'deko'. To that list we can add 'have a dekko'. 'Dekho' is a Hindi word meaning 'look'. The expression first began to be used by the British in India in the middle of the 19th century and soon migrated back home with soldiers on leave.
Example: Have a dekko at this wheel: the tyre's flat.

QUOTE BOX

Sooner or later even the fastest runners have to stand and fight.
